Running with a Police Escort: Tales from the Back of the Pack
Book by Jill Grunenwald
Introduction by Jakub Mejstrik of the Lakewood Police Department
Thursday, September 7, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Called “a stylish and sparkly writer” by the New York Times, Jill Grunenwald is a blogger, podcaster and author of Running with a Police Escort: Tales from the Back of the Pack. In her memoir, Grunenwald chronicles her racing adventures, proving that being a slow runner takes just as much guts and heart as being an Olympic champion. At turns heartbreaking and hilarious, Running with a Police Escort is for every runner who has never won a race but still loves the sport. Grunenwald is the healthy living blogger behind The Year of the Phoenix and host of the Running with a Police Escort podcast. A three time half-marathoner, Grunenwald proudly represents the back of the pack at every race and has been an Ambassador for the Cleveland Marathon series since 2015. Currently, she is employed as a staff librarian at OverDrive, where she is also the creator and co-host of the Professional Book Nerds podcast. She lives and works in Cleveland. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

The Great Forgetting
Book by James Renner
Thursday, September 21, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
When Lakewood High School history teacher Jack Felter gets a call that his father, a retired pilot suffering from dementia, is quickly losing his last, precious memories, he reluctantly returns to his hometown of Franklin Mills. It’s been years since he’s been home. Jack has been trying to forget about Franklin Mills ever since Sam, the girl he fell in love with, ran off with his best friend, Tony. But Tony has vanished and everyone assumes the worst. Soon Jack is pulled into the search for Tony, but the only one who seems to know anything is Tony’s last patient, a paranoid boy named Cole. As Cole pulls Jack into his web of conspiracy theories, the two team up to follow Tony’s trail—and maybe even save the world. James Renner is a journalist and former reporter for Cleveland Scene. His true crime stories have been published in the Best American Crime Reporting and Best Creative Nonfiction anthologies. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

How to Speak Midwestern
Book by Edward McClelland
Presented by Belt Publishing
Tuesday, September 26, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Pittsburgh toilet, squeaky cheese, city chicken, shampoo banana and Chevy in the Hole are all phrases that are familiar to Midwesterners but sound foreign to anyone living outside the region. Find out what Midwesterners say as well as how and why they say it in this book on Midwestern speech and slang. Edward McClelland’s witty and informed analysis of the strange folkways of Midwestern speech is based on his 2015 essay for Belt Magazine. Read it and learn about the difference between a FIP, a FIB and a FISHTAB, and what to call french fries on your sandwich in Pittsburgh or chili on your spaghetti in Cincinnati. Ted’s writing has also appeared in the New York Times, Los Angeles Times, Columbia Journalism Review, Salon, Slate and the Nation. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.
MEET THE AUTHOR

Seriously...What Am I Doing Here? The Adventures of a Wondering and Wandering Gay Jew

Book by Ken Schneck, PhD

Presented by 1984 Publishing

Thursday, September 28, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Auditorium

Pack your bags and set out into the world with a gay Jew determined to answer that universal question of: seriously...what am I doing here? Never having been on an adventure, Ken Schneck finds himself stumbling twice into rural Uganda; signing up for a 425-mile bike ride; stirring up drama at a Californian healing retreat; and somehow standing up straight with a colossal backpack strapped to his shoulders deep in the backwoods of the Colorado Rocky Mountains. This occasionally heartbreaking, often insightful and reliably witty travelogue has at its core our never-ending search for meaning, our desperate need to grasp that elusive sense of place and community, and how we often fail to succeed (sometimes hilariously so!) but keep right on trying. Schneck is the producer/host of This Show Is So Gay, the long-running, award-winning radio show/podcast. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Dr. Bob’s Drugless Guide to Balancing Female Hormones

Book by Dr. Bob De Maria

Thursday, October 5, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Multipurpose Room

Dr. Bob De Maria will be discussing natural strategies to balance female hormone function based on his book Dr. Bob’s Drugless Guide to Balancing Female Hormones. We are living in a sea of estrogen which is creating a demand on the detoxifying organs in the body. Hormone imbalances can be managed by focusing on liver and colon support with foods obtained at the corner grocery store. De Maria will discuss common female hormone challenges including but not limited to hot flashes, fatigue, heavy menses, tender breasts, depression and constipation. His research and daily experiences can be seen throughout the Drugless Guide book series. De Maria has consulted for Energizer, Parker Hannifin, Bendix, Fed EX and other national corporations, and has appeared on multiple international and domestic media portals including FOX, ABC Family, TBN and I Heart Radio. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Beach, Breeze, Bloodshed: A Teddy Creque Mystery

Book by John Keyse-Walker

Tuesday, October 10, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Auditorium

After barely surviving the first criminal investigation in living memory on the sun-drenched British Virgin island of Anegada, Constable Teddy Creque has spent the past six months trying to weather the aftermath. Now, with a promotion and a medal of honor, he’s newly committed to the job. So when a young woman dies in a shark attack off the coast of a neighboring island, Virgin Gorda, Teddy is happy to help when Deputy Commissioner Howard Lane orders him to capture the man-eater. But when Teddy arrives on Virgin Gorda, he begins to suspect there was human foul play involved, too. While Teddy is convinced that the woman’s death wasn’t accidental, not everyone on the island takes kindly to his meddling. John Keyse-Walker practiced law for thirty years before retiring and commencing his writing career. He has traveled extensively both inside and outside the US. Sun, Sand, Murder, his first novel, is the winner of the 2015 Minotaur Books/Mystery Writers of America First Crime Novel Award. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.
Quit ‘Should-ing’ On Yourself: A Step By Step Guide to Creating the Life You Deserve

Book by Eva Starr

Thursday, October 12, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Buckle your seat belt, and hold on for your life because this isn’t your ordinary self-help book. Quit ‘Should-ing’ on Yourself will take you down a road filled with twists and turns on a remarkable journey to find out who you really are. An African grey parrot named Japa will help you peel back the layers of the onion, revealing your true self as you shine the light on the darkness, ready to explore the areas where you dared not tread before. Author Eva Starr’s spiritual journey has taken her coast-to-coast studying various schools of thought. Starr is a native Clevelander who recently returned from San Diego to her roots in Lakewood. Her book Quit ‘Should-ing’ on Yourself was featured at the LA Times 2016 Book Festival. Starr has been published in San Diego Woman, Discover, Vision and The Journey. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Missing: Coming to Terms with a Borderline Mother

Book by Kathy Ewing

Thursday, October 19, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Northeast Ohio native Kathy Ewing never understood why her mother was so unhappy. It was not until Ewing herself became a mother of two that she sought to understand her mother’s cold and absent behavior. This behavior mystified her until she made the connection between her mother’s coldness and Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD). In Missing, Ewing presents a memoir sharing her childhood memories that showcase her mother’s troubling behavior and explain the BPD diagnosis. A long-time freelance writer, Ewing has published essays, book reviews, and features in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Cleveland Magazine, CWRU Magazine, John Carroll Magazine and the Bark, as well as fiction and poetry. She teaches Latin at Cleveland State University and has taught a writing seminar at Case Western Reserve University. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Haunted Franklin Castle

Book by William G. Krejci and John W. Myers

Thursday, October 26, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

For more than half a century, the Franklin Castle’s dark façade has lured curiosity seekers from around the world. Behind its iron gates, this Victorian-era structure harbors rumors of everything from insanity to mass murder. Disembodied voices echo from empty rooms, doors open and close of their own accord and cold spots drift about the manse. Witnesses swear to sightings of a woman in black and a young girl in white, believed to be the ghostly apparitions of the wife and daughter of the original owner, Hannes Tiedemann. Using previously unpublished photographs, interviews, family accounts, floor plans and nearly forty years of research, authors William G. Krejci and John W. Myers reveal the true and definitive history of Cleveland’s notorious Franklin Castle. William G. Krejci is a seasonal park ranger at Perry’s Victory and International Peace Memorial in Put-in-Bay. During the off season, he resides in Cleveland as the resident historian at the Franklin Castle. John W. Myers, a retired Lutheran pastor with thirty years in parish ministry, is an avid researcher and genealogist. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.
The Appalachian Collection: Remembering the Hill Country
Book by Harold H. Milton
Presentation by Janice Louise Blanton
Wednesday, November 1, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
This collection of tales from the Appalachian mountain country provides a look at the culture and people of the hills that few are privileged to know directly. Harold Milton was born in Marietta, Ohio in a log cabin on a farm in 1913. He had four sisters. He loved the trees and the woods, digging ginseng, writing books, tailoring, the Church of Christ and most of all, God. Although he only had an eighth grade education, he remedied that when he was eighty years old, receiving his GED in 1993. He spent the 1940s, ‘50s, ‘60s and ‘70s writing novels and short stories he never was able to publish including, The Appalachian Collection: Remembering the Hill Country, The Conquests of Lonnie Dolan, Water Baptism and The Treasure of the Hills. Having Milton’s writings published has been a labor of love for his niece, Janice Blanton. He took her in when she was orphaned at a young age, and she is forever grateful for his love and care. Join Blanton as she shares her uncle’s story, as well as her own story about finishing her beloved uncle’s dream to have his works published. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Imagine a Forest: Designs and Inspirations for Enchanting Folk Art
Book by Dinara Mirtalipova
Thursday, November 2, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The magical folklore of Uzbekistan and Russia has always influenced author, illustrator and folklorist Dinara Mirtalipova’s work. Born and raised in Tashkent, Uzbekistan, Mirtalipova studied Computer Science at the Tashkent State University of Economics. However, her true passion was always patterns and illustrations. Her book Imagine a Forest is a drawing and design guide based on her own years of creative work. Raised in Soviet Uzbek culture, Dinara inhabited Uzbek/Russian folklore that still influences her work. She uses a wide range of materials and tools, including lino blocks, gouache and acrylics. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Winter’s Gambit
Book by Dana McSwain
Thursday, November 9, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Saddled with the grim inheritance of a bankrupt Russian teahouse in a Detroit slum, Alex Winters’ life is filled with more misfortune than a Tolstoy novel. Alex passes the time by writing quirky backstories for the parade of inner city characters who drift in and out of the teahouse. All that changes when an enigmatic stranger walks through her door. Tall, dark and grumpy, ex-Marine Frank Brennan’s daily visits to the teahouse defy any plot twist Alex can imagine. When Frank’s unique brand of tactical chivalry slams head-on into a mob payment gone bad, Alex finds herself on the run in an epic cross-country road trip with a twitchy veteran who acts like his mission objective is to get as far away from her as possible. Dana McSwain is a writer from Lakewood. She has written for Rust Belt Magazine and Dangerously Bored. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.
Don’t Ever Let It Go: Hanging on to Your Personal Power in the Turmoil of the 21st Century
Book by Dr. Kay Potetz, PhD

Main Library Auditorium
Wouldn’t it be nice if you always arrived home in a good mood? Visualize less frustration with co-workers, bosses, aging parents, toddlers and teens. Don’t Ever Let It Go is a practical pathway to an entirely new way of living your life. Dr. Kay Potetz offers readers the opportunity to learn techniques for saving precious energy on problems they likely can’t change and to instead focus on creating solutions to enhance and maintain personal power. Potetz is featured as a news commentator on radio stations, as well as national shows such as Wall Street Journal This Morning. Potetz lives in Lakewood. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Sandwich Anarchy: The Cult Culinary Posters of Melt Bar & Grilled
Book by John G
Presented by 1984 Publishing
Thursday, November 30, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
In 2006 Melt Bar & Grilled was born from Cleveland musician and chef Matt Fish’s love of two things: great craft beer and the humble grilled cheese sandwich. Two years later underground comics creator John G had an idea to push Melt’s punk rock concept even further by producing eye-popping “gig posters.” Ten years and 250 posters later, the synergy of food and art has transformed Melt Bar & Grilled from a tiny rock ‘n’ roll bar into the biggest culinary buzz to hit the Midwest in decades. Sandwich Anarchy collects ten years of Melt posters into one volume, from the Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon Melt to The Brat Pack Breakfast Club Melt (Pixy Stix included!), along with the stories behind the images. John G is an illustrator, comics creator and head of Cleveland-based Shiner Comics. Since the late ’90s, he’s been building a humble following, creating hundreds of vivid posters for Melt Bar & Grilled, Cleveland Cinemas and Scene Magazine. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Mrs. Sherlock Holmes: The True Story of New York City’s Greatest Female Detective and the 1917 Missing Girl Case That Captivated a Nation.
Book by Brad Ricca
Thursday, December 7, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Mrs. Sherlock Holmes tells the true story of Mrs. Grace Humiston, the detective and lawyer who turned her back on New York society life to become one of the nation’s greatest crime fighters during an era when women weren’t even allowed to vote. After graduating from NYU law school, Grace opened a legal clinic in the city for low-income immigrant clients, and quickly established a reputation as a fierce, but fair lawyer who was always on the side of the disenfranchised. This is the first-ever literary biography of the singular woman the press nicknamed after fiction’s greatest detective. The great mystery of Mrs. Sherlock Holmes — and its haunting twist ending — is how could one woman with so much power disappear so completely? Brad Ricca was the winner of the St. Lawrence Book Award for American Mastadon, which was featured on A Writer’s Almanac with Garrison Keillor and named “Best Poetry Debut” by Cleveland Magazine. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

A Race Anthology: Dispatches and Artifacts from a Segregated City
Edited by Dan Moulthrop
Thursday, December 14, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

A collaboration between City Club of Cleveland and Guide to Kulcher Press, A Race Anthology gathers “dispatches” from our region and across the nation to discuss the history and the current manifestations of segregation in Cleveland. This Anthology combines essays, comics and poetry with transcripts from The City Club’s tremendous archives to give a glimpse into a dynamic that affects us all. Editor Dan Moulthrop (City Club Cleveland) will discuss the works in the anthology, the inspiration for creating it and the process that lead to the collaboration of one of our city’s most revered institutions and the hub of our city’s creative minds. Moulthrop is CEO at The City Club of Cleveland, the nation’s oldest continuously running free speech forum. He’s an award winning local public radio host, a former high school teacher and a graduate of UC Berkeley’s Graduate School of Journalism. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Lisa’s Legacy Trilogy
Book by Tom Batiuk
Thursday, December 21, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Since 1972, Tom Batiuk has blended comedy and drama to create the familiar world of the Funky Winkerbean comic strip. A cancer diagnosis for the character of Lisa spotlights the masterful way Batiuk weaves emotional narratives into a traditionally humorous medium. Fans of Funky Winkerbean will remember Lisa as Les Moore’s high school best friend and later, his wife. The new books Prelude and The Last Leaf put Lisa’s Story in context within the full tapestry of Lisa’s life and complete the Lisa’s Legacy Trilogy. Batiuk is the creator of the Funky Winkerbean and Crankshaft comic strips. The Akron native and Kent State University alumnus was a finalist for the 2008 Pulitzer Prize for Lisa’s Story. His strips are syndicated in more than 600 newspapers worldwide with an audience of sixty million readers. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

On Chagrin Boulevard: A Collection of Fluff, Foibles, Fabrications, Flapdoodle, Free Verse and Flash Fiction
Book by Melissa Hintz
Thursday, December 28, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Using rich language and vivid metaphors, Melissa Hintz’s flash fiction, free verse and poetry are perfect for anyone who loves language, nuance and the beautiful absurdity of modern life. Whether set in smoky bars, hospital waiting rooms or the ancient city of Pompeii, the pieces in her collection all share an unflinching commitment to describe the complexity of life exactly as it is. Hintz, a Shaker Heights resident, left corporate America to become a writer. She loves the complexity inherent in the creation of characters and plot twists for her novels, as well as the challenge of poetry, which requires condensing a story, idea or emotion into just a few words. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

13 Zodiac Women
Book by Carolyn Anderson
Thursday, January 11, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Ted has a successful practice as a counselor. He’s physically attractive, cultured and a caring soul. He’s also lonely and eager to find love. When blind dates fizzle out, he decides to give online dating a try. Online dating is filled with sweet Geminis, adventurous Libras and gorgeous Aries. Ted enjoys meeting these bright women, but behind the sunny online profiles, some of them reveal themselves as bitter and hurt. Divided into a series of short chapters, 13 Zodiac Women is also a serious meditation on life, sexuality, relationships and struggle to find a connection. Anderson’s earlier books include Leadership for Adolescents and 12 Zodiac Men, which explores online dating from a women’s perspective. She resides in Lakewood. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

The Last Voyageurs: Retracing La Salle’s Journey Across America: Teenagers on the Adventure of a Lifetime
Book by Lorraine Boissoneault
Thursday, January 18, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
In 1976, America’s bicentennial, a group set out to re-create French explorer La Salle’s voyage down the entire length of the Mississippi River, abandoning their modern identities and facing the challenges of the 1600s. While recounting the history of La Salle’s original voyage, the group discussed historic techniques for surviving cold weather and the benefits and challenges of a voyageur diet. The Last Voyageurs tells the story of an American odyssey, near-death experiences and self-discovery. Lorraine Boissoneault is a journalist and staff writer for Smithsonian Magazine. She lives in Chicago, and is originally from northern Ohio. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

You’re Welcome, Cleveland: How I Helped LeBron James Win a Championship and Save a City

Book by Scott Raab
Tuesday, January 30, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

You’re Welcome Cleveland follows the first two years of LeBron James’s return to Cleveland, where everybody just loves a good story of forgiveness—especially when you fulfill your promise and bring home an NBA Championship, the first major title for a Cleveland team since 1964. In 2010, when LeBron James announced to the world that he was leaving for Miami, he broke the collective heart of his native city and destroyed the hopes of an entire tortured generation. Four years—and two NBA championships later—LeBron came home to the Rust Belt faithful who had vilified him mercilessly, none more so than Raab. You’re Welcome, Cleveland is the story of both LeBron’s and Scott’s redemption as they pursue the one thing they crave more than anything in life—an NBA title for the city that made them men. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Mars Girls

Book by Mary Turzillo
Thursday, February 1, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Nanoannie is bored living on colonized Mars with her parents, sister and holo-cat named Fuzzbutt. When Kapera, a friend from online school, shows up at her Pharm asking for help, Nanoannie is quick to jump in the rover. The girls soon find that this adventure is more than they bargained for in this young adult novel. Turzillo’s 1999 Nebula-winner, “Mars Is No Place for Children” is read on the International Space Station. Her poetry collection, Lovers & Killers, won the 2013 Elgin Award. She has been a finalist on the British Science Fiction Association, Pushcart, Stoker, Dwarf Stars, Nebula, and Rhysling ballots. Turzillo lives in Ohio, with her scientist-writer husband, Geoffrey Landis, and is a founding member of the Mars Society. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

The Family Gene: A Mission to Turn My Deadly Inheritance into a Hopeful Future

Book by Joselin Linder
Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

When Joselin Linder was in her twenties, her legs suddenly started to swell. Struggling to find an explanation for her unusual condition, Linder compared the medical chart of her father—who had died from a mysterious disease, ten years before—with that of an uncle who had died under similarly strange circumstances. Linder approached Dr. Christine Seidman, the head of a group of world-class genetic researchers at Harvard Medical School, for help. Dr. Seidman had been working on her family’s case for twenty years and had finally confirmed that fourteen of Linder’s relatives carried something called a private mutation—meaning that they were the first known people to experience the baffling symptoms of a brand new genetic mutation. Linder is a writer living in Brooklyn. She is a regular contributor to the New York Post and Morning Edition, among other media outlets. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.
Too Lucky To Live: A Somebody’s Bound to Wind Up Dead Mystery

Book by Annie Hogsett
Thursday, February 8, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Cleveland divorce survivor Allie Harper believes all her problems would be solved if she could find a nice, smart, hot guy and enough money to get her car fixed. The hot guy arrives first in a crosswalk, clutching a bag of groceries while a blonde in a Hummer is leaning hard on her horn, sending the man’s groceries and white cane flying. How has this woman missed the fact that the man is blind? Thomas Bennington III, the handsome stranger, has bought a MondoMegaJackpot ticket. Later that night, Tom hears his winning numbers announced and he’s less than thrilled, since he has gambled on the odds of losing just to prove a point. Allie and Tom grasp two things: one, they’re hot for each other, and two, the ticket is a hot target, and now so are they. Every scheming weasel in Cleveland will be after Tom’s millions, and it’s game on with killers and kidnappers. Although Annie Hogsett has been writing for as long as she can remember and enjoyed a long career as an advertising copywriter, Too Lucky To Live is her first published novel. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Crescent City Crimes: Old New Orleans 1718–1918

Book by Charles Cassady Jr.
Tuesday, February 13, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

In the first 200 years of New Orleans history, the Crescent City has earned a reputation for sin, temptation, intrigue, lawlessness, ritual-magic and ghosts. Step back in time to the city’s first few crime-stained centuries—from 1718–1918—to explore classic tales of mischief, mayhem and skullduggery. Meet a cast of rascals and ruffians as you relive the era of American piracy and smuggling. Discover legendary sorcery and unspeakable rumors surrounding Voodoo and ghosts. Examine ritual violence, the largest mass-lynching ever on US soil and a unique red-light district. Charles Cassady Jr., a former Lakewood resident, who still lives in northeastern Ohio, he is also the author of Cleveland Ghosts, Paranormal Great Lakes, Paranormal Mississippi River and Great Lakes Folklore. 1984: the Facts in the Fiction
Literature Series presented by Barbara Parr
Wednesdays, September 6, 2017; September 13, 2017; September 20, 2017 and September 27, 2017; at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
“"If the Party could thrust its hand into the past and say of this or that event, IT NEVER HAPPENED—that, surely, was more terrifying than mere torture and death?” George Orwell, 1984. This quote shows how relevant a book written in 1949, about a futuristic and autocratic society in 1984, can be to us in 2017. Orwell’s prophetic voice rings true today. This is what led 1984 to rocket onto bestseller lists this year, more than sixty-years after its publication date. Let’s see if you can tell the similarities and differences between the novel and our society during this free, four-week course presented by Barbara Parr, an instructor with Case Western Reserve University’s Laura and Alvin Siegal Lifelong Learning Program. Please read the first fifty pages for the first class. Registration is required. Register online at lifelonglearningcleveland.org or call (216) 226-8275, ext. 127.

Book Discussion: The Opposite of Spoiled: Raising Kids Who Are Grounded, Generous, and Smart About Money
Led by Andrea Fisher
Thursday, September 14, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Parents and caregivers are invited to take part in a book discussion based on this New York Times Bestseller. In the book, Ron Lieber explains how talking openly to children about money can help parents raise modest, patient, grounded young adults who are financially wise beyond their years. The discussion will focus on Chapter 2: “How to Start the Money Conversations” and Chapter 4: “The Smartest Ways for Kids to Spend”. The first twenty children and/or parents attending the Great Minds Think: Time to Think About Money on September 5th will receive a free copy of the book. Copies of the book and audiobook are available at the Library and on Ohio Digital Library, as well as Hoopla. Andrea Fisher is a Librarian here at Lakewood Public Library and the Thinking Money Project Director.
Book Discussion: Dead Wake: The Last Crossing of the Lusitania

Led by George N. Vourlojianis, Ph.D.

Wednesday, October 25, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Multipurpose Room

An event’s anniversary or commemoration is the best time for authors to research and publish on a subject. Taking advantage of the First World War’s centennial, Erik Larson has written on one of its most horrific and shocking events. Dead Wake: The Last Crossing of the Lusitania adds new descriptions and dimensions to the existing literature of the ship’s intentional and unfathomable sinking by a German submarine and the loss of over 1100 men, women and children. With vivid descriptions and a flowing, readable style, Larson brings to life the last voyage of the Lusitania. Dr. George Vourlojianis will lead a discussion underlining the miscalculations, misunderstandings and mistakes which created the perfect storm of circumstances that led to one of the twentieth century’s most iconic tragedies. After presenting American history classes at Lorain County Community College for twenty-five years George Vourlojianis retired and was honored with the title Professor Emeritus in 2015. He continues to present military history classes at John Carroll University. He is the author of two books on Ohio’s military history and is the recipient of four distinguished teaching awards.

From Biography to Broadway: Alexander Hamilton

Book Discussion: Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City

Led by Dr. Roland Anglin

Monday, January 15, 2018 at 7:00 p.m. in the Main Library Multipurpose Room

Thursday, February 1, 2018 at 7:00 p.m. in the Madison Branch Auditorium

For more than ten million households in America, life is a daily struggle as residents spend more than half of their income on rent and utilities. Libraries across the county will discuss the book Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City by Matthew Desmond. Evicted follows the plights of eight Milwaukee families as they struggle financially in the midst of appalling poverty and exploitation by unscrupulous landlords. Leading the discussion of Evicted is Dr. Roland V. Anglin, the Dean of Cleveland State University’s Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs. An academic and author, Dr. Anglin is committed to community economic development. Join us in finding real solutions to our housing crisis and in celebrating the power of books to create a stronger community. This literature discussion is part of the Cleveland Community Read and is sponsored by libraries throughout the greater Cleveland area and by The City Club of Cleveland.

LAKEWOOD HISTORICAL SOCIETY PROGRAMS

History of the Lakewood Police Department

Presentation by Officer Ted Morley

Wednesday, October 11, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Auditorium

What is now the City of Lakewood with a population of over 50,000 began as the Hamlet of Lakewood, population 400. The Lakewood Police Department has grown as well, to serve the growing population. Officer Ted Morley has spent the last twenty years as the Ward 1 Community Officer, and the last fifteen years collecting historical photographs of the Lakewood Police Department. Morley’s presentation will center on this collection and will cover the complete history of the Lakewood Police Department.

History of the Metroparks: Rocky River Reservation

Presentation by John Pyke

Wednesday, November 15, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Auditorium

Celebrate the one hundredth birthday of the Cleveland Metroparks by learning about the history of our nearest park, the Rocky River Reservation. An important topographical feature of Northern Ohio, the Rocky River Reservation became the first parkland acquired by the Cleveland Metropolitan Parks District, created in 1917. The history of the Metroparks is really the story of the vision, perseverance and stewardship of William A. Stinchcomb, the first and longest serving director of the Metroparks. John Pyke will share this story. Pyke is a two-term past president of the Lakewood Historical Society.

History of Lakewood’s Masonic Lodge and Temple

Presentation by Bob Niebaum

Wednesday, November 29, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.

Lakewood Masonic Temple, 15300 Detroit Avenue

For more than one hundred years, Lakewood’s Masonic Lodge has been at the center of the city’s life and events. Organized in 1908, the lodge originally occupied quarters above First Federal Lakewood at the corner of Warren and Detroit Roads. In 1916 it was relocated two blocks west into a new, classically inspired Masonic Temple on the corner of Detroit and Andrews. Lodge member Bob Niebaum will review the history of this Lakewood institution and the role the Masons have played in the history of Lakewood itself. This program will take place at the Masonic Temple, so that the audience may partake in an optional building tour.

A History of Medications

Presentation by Tom Strong

Wednesday, January 31, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.

Main Library Auditorium

We have come a long way from the development of the first pharmaceutical drug in 1898: Bayer Aspirin. Bayer was the accessible, over-the-counter remedy everyone knew. Tom Strong, health educator and patient advocate, will take us from these humble beginnings through the evolution of drugs over the past one hundred years. Strong will cover not only how medication has dramatically changed the treatment of disease, but also the dark side of prescription medications, their side effects, costs and scandals.
Rock Stars of the 50s, 60s and 70s
Presentation by Joel Keller
Monday, September 18, 2017; Monday, September 25, 2017; Monday, October 2, 2017 and Monday, October 9, 2017 from 1:00 p.m. to 2:15 p.m.
Lawther Center, 16024 Madison Ave.
The 50s, 60s and 70s were a rich time for Rock 'n Roll music. This class will concentrate on the careers and music of many of the artists of the period, including Nate King Cole, Elvis Presley, ABBA, Aretha Franklin, Carole King, Neil Diamond, Chicago, The Bee Gees and Barry Manilow. Dr. Joel Keller, the Doc of Rock 'n Roll, will provide a bit of biographical information, play many of their songs and also share a few one hit wonders. This class is free and open to the public. Please call the Division of Aging Activities office at (216) 592-5005, to register.

Investigating the 5th Amendment
Presentation by Magistrate Barbara Greenberg
Tuesdays, September 19, 2017; September 26, 2017; October 3, 2017 and Tuesday, October 10, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
The words of the 5th Amendment are very familiar from television crime shows and public trials and hearings. "I plead the 5th", is the Constitutional protection from being compelled to be a witness against yourself in a criminal case but is so much more—the right to due process. Together we will review and discuss this amendment and the landmark cases connected to. Barbara Greenberg is currently a Magistrate at Bedford Municipal Court and works with the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court Diversion Program. She teaches for Tri-C, Case Western Reserve University Laura and Alvin Lifelong Learning Program and Benjamin Rose Institute. Registration is required. Forum: Home Rule for Northeast Ohio Communities:
Should it be Stronger or Weaker?
Presented by Cleveland.com/Plain Dealer, League of Women Voters-Greater Cleveland, CWRU Siegal Lifelong Learning
Moderated by Tom Beres
Tuesday, October 17, 2017 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
This forum will cover the pros and cons of an issue that impact Northeast Ohio communities almost every day: who has the right to control laws regarding gun control, fracking, police, schools and many other issues. Should it be local communities? Or should the Ohio legislature set the laws for your city. Panelists include: Tom Bier PhD, Senior Fellow at the Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs of Cleveland State University; Barbara A. Langhenry, Director of Law for the City of Cleveland; Thomas Suddes, Columnist for Cleveland.com, the Columbus Dispatch and the Dayton Daily News and Michael Summers, Mayor of the city of Lakewood. The forum will be moderated by Tom Beres, retired reports from WKYC-TV.
The March toward Total War: German’s Doctrine of Unrestricted Submarine Warfare and the Sinking of R.M.S. Lusitania
Presentation by George N. Vourlojianis, Ph.D.
Wednesday, October 18, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main library Auditorium

The First World War is the seminal man-made catastrophe of the twentieth century. Europe’s greatest states committed all the resources they possessed to its waging. The dynamic created erased not only geographic boundaries, but those of civility. It irrevocably altered the character of warfare as the distinction between civilians and soldiers was not only blurred, but disappeared forever. The March Toward Total War addresses the introduction and use of the submarine as a terror weapon which when unleashed knew no limits. Germany’s sinking of the passenger-liner Lusitania stunned the world. The intentional killing of so many non-combatants ushered in the era of unrestricted warfare – Total War. Professor Emeritus George Vourlojianis retired in 2015 from Lorain County Community College. He continues to present military history courses at John Carroll University in Cleveland. He is the author of two books on Ohio’s military history and is the recipient of four distinguished teaching awards. Funding for this program is made possible in part by Ohio Humanities.

International Lakewood:
World in Your Backyard Two Part Series
Presentation by Kenneth J. Kovach
Wednesday, January 17, 2018 and Wednesday, January 24, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

The first part of this series, International Lakewood, explores the great diversity of peoples and cultures in the residents of Lakewood and presents a big picture of the immigrants and refugees who make Northeast Ohio their home. The second part, The World in Your Backyard: Immigrants and Refugees Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow, explores the waves in immigration in the United States and the growth of Lakewood through immigration and refugee resettlement. The World in Your Backyard program is presented by ICC-WIN - the multicultural network enabling Northeast Ohio competence in global business, cultural, and education. The purpose of the World in Your Backyard Program is to increase cultural awareness and bridge-building among neighbors in diverse communities of Northeast Ohio. Kenneth Kovach is the President of the Board of Directors of the International Community Council-Worldwide Intercultural Network.

Documentary: No Asylum: The Untold Chapter of Anne Frank’s Story (2015)
Directed by Paula Fouce
Presented by Fern Levy
Wednesday, November 8, 2017 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The discovery of the lost letters of Anne Frank’s father Otto brings about a new chapter in a story of iconic courage. Otto’s letters uncover his heartbreaking failure to find a place of safety for his family as the Franks are doomed by the world’s indifference. The film features interviews with two of Anne’s relatives—her cousin Buddy Elias and stepsister Eva Schloss. Elias candidly recounts their childhood together and shares family mementos. Schloss shares her own experience of moving to Amsterdam to escape the Nazis. Light is shed on one of the most iconic stories of the Holocaust and people continue to ask—when atrocities occur will society turn away or take action?

Directed by Brian Malone
Presented by the Sierra Club Ohio Chapter
Tuesday, November 14, 2017 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The Standing Rock conflict was first brought to the attention of the American public in the midst of the 2016 presidential race. While the media frenzy surrounding the election made the Dakota Access Pipeline a trending topic, this protest was nothing new to the Standing Rock Sioux tribe. Beyond Standing Rock highlights the 170-year-long conflict between Native American tribes and the U.S. government over issues of independence, land ownership and resources. Emmy award winning director Brian Malone takes us from the front lines of the protest to tribal headquarters, going behind the scenes to unveil the conflict.

Documentary: What the Health (2017)
Directed by Kip Andersen, Keegan Kuhn
Presented by the Cleveland Vegan Society
Tuesday, December 19, 2017 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
What the Health reveals one of the largest health cover-ups of our time as the creators of the award winning documentary Cowspiracy uncover the secret to preventing and reversing chronic diseases. With heart disease and diabetes at an all-time high, the link between the American diet and health is under scrutiny. Filmmaker Kip Andersen discovers that the processing of industrial animal products has tremendous effects on the health of the nation. The film follows Andersen as he asks the leading health nonprofits why they are staying silent on the food production practices that are causing a health epidemic across America. The mission to uncover answers exposes the corruption in government, big business and healthcare.

The Creature from Jekyll Island
Presentation by WordStage
Sunday, September 10, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
A secret gathering at a secluded island off the coast of Georgia in held under the guise of a recreational duck hunt from November 20, 1910 – November 30, 1910 laid the foundations for the Federal Reserve System. The scheme was predominantly devised by six men – Nelson Aldrich, A. Piatt Andrew, Henry Davison, Arthur Shelton, Frank Vanderlip and Paul Warburg - aided and abetted by America’s foremost financier, J. Pierpont Morgan – who met at the Jekyll Island Club, off the coast of Georgia, to write a plan to reform the nation’s banking system, in reaction to the great financial panic of 1907. The meeting and its purpose were closely guarded secrets, and participants did not admit that the meeting occurred until the 1930s. But the plan written on Jekyll Island created the foundation for what would eventually be the Federal Reserve System as we know it today.

Tuesday, September 19, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Reading behind the financial headlines: Much like in the Wizard of Oz, financial headlines can leave you frightened and paralyzed by looking at the seemingly ominous situation that has you asking “what’s going on?” We will learn how to interpret positive and negative financial headlines as they relate to your wealth development. This talk is presented by Todd Allyn Williams, Associate Professor of Business and Economics at Cuyahoga Community College, and the host of The Todd Allyn Show on WELW 1330 AM. He has a passion for education, and has given numerous presentations regarding the topics of wealth creation, leadership, entrepreneurship, and positive self-direction to people and organizations across the country.

Scams that Target Seniors
Presentation by the Pamela Anson
Wednesday, September 20, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Have you ever received a call or email that you won a large sum of money? Or have you had an uninvited guest at your door that offered to make repairs but ended up doing shoddy work? Maybe you received a letter in the mail that guaranteed large returns on your investments and invited you to a “free lunch.” Every day, scammers bombard the telephones, mailboxes, and email accounts of older Americans with age-old scams and new types of fraud. Senior citizens may have fixed incomes or they may have saved a nest egg. Either way, learn how to protect your money and how avoid being a victim of this pervasive criminal activity from Pamela Anson the Community Outreach Coordinator for Better Business Bureau (BBB) Serving Greater Cleveland.

Documentary: Thinking Money: The Psychology Behind Our Best and Worst Financial Decisions
Directed by Tom Feliu
Monday, September 25, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

If you’ve ever made a financial decision you regretted the next day, you’re not alone. In fact, as the emerging field of behavioral economics reveals, you’re practically hard-wired to overspend, an activity that lights up the brain’s pleasure centers. In the documentary film, Thinking Money: The Psychology Behind Our Best and Worst Financial Decisions, a mix of humor, on-the-street interviews and provocative insights from innovative thinkers will allow the audience to explore why we spend, why we save (or don’t) and how we think about money. Travel from Wall Street to Main Street, and from the halls of academia to the Santa Barbara wine country, to find out how our brains—and the marketplace—affect how we deal with money.

Documentary: We the Economy: 20 Short Films You Can’t Afford to Miss
Directed by Bob Balaban, Jon M. Chu
Thursday October 5, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

In Morgan Spurlock’s film series, blockbuster directors like Mary Harron (American Psycho) and Adam McKay (Anchorman) team up with economics experts to explain the significant economic issues of our time in the form of short films. Each film explores a key money topic affecting America today and answers questions like “What is the Economy?”, “What is the Role of our Government in the Economy?” and “What Causes Inequality?” The series aims to drive awareness and establish a better understanding of the U.S. economy. Told through animation, comedy, musical, non-fiction and scripted films, We the Economy seeks to demystify a complicated topic while empowering the public to take control of their own economic futures.
Running with a Police Escort: Tales from the Back of the Pack
Book by Jill Grunenwald
Introduction by Jakub Mejstrik of the Lakewood Police Department
Thursday, September 7, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Called “a stylish and sparkly writer” by the New York Times, Jill Grunenwald is a blogger, podcaster, and author of Running with a Police Escort: Tales from the Back of the Pack. In her memoir, Grunenwald chronicles her racing adventures, proving that being a slow runner takes just as much guts and heart as being an Olympic champion. At turns heartbreaking and hilarious, Running with a Police Escort is for every runner who has never won a race but still loves the sport. Her touching and insightful journey about conquering fears and learning to love yourself will inspire anyone hoping to make a lifestyle change. Grunenwald is the healthy living blogger behind The Year of the Phoenix and host of the Running with a Police Escort podcast. A three time half-marathoner, Grunenwald proudly represents the back of the pack at every race and has been an Ambassador for the Cleveland Marathon series since 2015. She has her BFA from Bowling Green State University and her MLIS from the University of Kentucky. Currently, she is employed as a staff librarian at OverDrive, where she is also the creator and co-host of the Professional Book Nerds podcast. She lives and works in Cleveland. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Race (2016)
Directed by Stephen Hopkins
Saturday, September 16, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Cleveland’s Jesse Owens (Stephan James) attends Ohio State University, achieving track and field prominence. His coach Larry Snyder (Jason Sudeikis) recognizes Owens’ Olympic potential. The U.S Olympic organizations are debating if a team should be sent into Adolf Hitler’s Third Reich for the upcoming 1936 Games. Avery Brundage (Jeremy Irons) makes a compelling case to go, and Owens qualifies for the squad. In the running long jump event, Germany boasts reigning European champion Carl “Luz” Long (David Kross), Owens’ most formidable challenger. With the Games about to begin, excitement and tensions run high. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.

Jessica Croisant is a accomplished vegan ultra-endurance athlete and former mixed martial arts instructor turned full-time trail ambassador & plant-based nutrition advocate, motivational speaker, wife and mother. In 2015, Croisant became a blogger with the launch of her website Sugarstride.com. The blog is focused on providing resources and tips for runners of all abilities as well as support for training and nutrition. To bookend the blog, in 2015 Croisant launched The Sugarstride Podcast. In October 2015, Croisant finished her first ultra-marathon. She completed her first fifty kilometer race in 7:02:30, finishing 5th overall female, and she completed her first 100 mile race at the Burning River 100 in 2016. Croisant will share with us what it takes to run for fitness, including the importance of nutrition, and the value of having a running community; something that Cleveland has in spades.

Jim Tracy led his cross-country team to the state championship nine times, a record for San Francisco University High School. Though diagnosed with ALS (Lou Gehrig’s disease) in 2010, Jim continued to inspire his team. That year, sixteen-year-old Holland Reynolds crossed the finish line to secure the championship. Rattled by dehydration and hypothermia, she collapsed and crawled to the win. Taking the focus off of Reynolds, Running for Jim gives us a look into Jim’s inspirational story and the facts of the disease. Producers Robin Hauser and Dan Noyes team up to tell the story of Jim’s resiliency and his team’s dedication to their sport and to their coach.

Running Lakewood
Anywhere you go in Lakewood you can spot citizens, novices to experts, taking advantage of the city’s miles of sidewalks to run. The Library would like to celebrate the city’s enthusiasm for this activity. No matter if you run for fitness, health or sport you will find something in this series of programs to interest you.

Latin America’s Political Pendulum
Led by Javier Morales-Ortiz, PhD
Saturday, September 23, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
The pendulum of Latin American politics is swinging rightward once again. Yet as the “pink tide” recedes, the forces of change have more to do with socioeconomics than ideology. Dramatic economic and political crises have coincided in countries like Brazil and Venezuela. Still, the final result for Latin America may be the emergence of centrist, pragmatic modes of governance, and with them, opportunities for the U.S. to improve relations. The new administration must look beyond the neoliberal model of the 1990s, and develop an approach to relations fit for the 21st century. Dr. Javier Morales-Ortiz is an associate professor of political science and international studies at Baldwin Wallace University. His areas of expertise include foreign policy analysis, international organization and Latin American politics.

Conflict in the South China Sea
Led by Paul Schroeder, PhD
Saturday, October 21, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
The South China Sea is a locus of competing territorial claims, and China its most vocal claimant. Beijing's interest has intensified disputes with other countries in the region in recent years, especially since China has increased its naval presence. Despite rising international pressure, including an unfavorable ruling by the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea, China staunchly defends its policies in the region. Preventing tensions from boiling over is a matter of careful diplomacy. Dr. Paul Schroeder is a professor of political science at Case Western Reserve University. His research interests include China, International Relations, International Trade, Chinese Politics, Foreign Policy and the Environment.

Nuclear Security: The Enduring Challenge of Nuclear Weapons
Led by William Fickinger
Saturday, October 7, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
Nuclear nonproliferation was a top priority for the Obama administration. While the Iran Deal was a diplomatic victory toward this end, major threats persist from both state and non-state actors. Countries like North Korea, Russia, and India and Pakistan continue to challenge nonproliferation efforts. The possibility that terrorists will carry out an attack using a “dirty bomb,” made from captured nuclear materials, looks increasingly real. In a fractious world, which way forward for U.S. nuclear security policy? William Fickinger is a retired professor from Case Western Reserve University and board member of the Cleveland Peace Action.

The Future of Europe: Coping with Crisis
Led by Paul Schroeder, PhD
Saturday, November 4, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
The outcome of the United Kingdom referendum on EU membership sent shockwaves across the globe. It even caught British voters by surprise. The European Union has helped secure peace in Europe for the past seventy years. Now it faces an uncertain future. Amid a refugee crisis, lingering financial recession and the constant specter of terrorism, unity seems more imperative than ever. But the Brexit vote underscores the complexities of integrating an extremely diverse continent. What will post-Brexit Europe look like, and how can U.S. foreign policy adapt?
Trade, Jobs and Politics
Saturday, November 18, 2017 at 10:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
The U.S. political mood toward trade has gone sour. One need look no further than the 2016 presidential contest for the popular narrative: trade means that China wins, at America’s expense. But do the numbers support that conclusion? The metrics used to gauge economic strength—Gross Domestic Product and balance of trade—have not kept up with the realities of modern manufacturing. Obtaining an accurate picture of U.S. economic stature requires a critique of those numbers. Only then can the U.S. develop appropriate policy solutions for the challenges at hand.

U.S. Foreign Policy and Petroleum
Saturday, December 2, 2017 at 10:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
What is the effect of U.S. petroleum security on foreign policy? For forty-five years, the country has alternated between periods of energy security and insecurity, sometimes able to wield petroleum as a useful instrument of foreign policy, sometimes not. Despite the so-called “energy revolution,” the U.S. today is by no means disentangled from foreign dependence and global trends. In order to be successful, policymakers must recognize both petroleum security circumstances and patterns in the relationship between petroleum and foreign policy.

Prospects for Afghanistan and Pakistan
Led by Karl Kaltenthaler PhD
Saturday, December 16, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
Major internal conflict has plagued Afghanistan for four decades. The U.S., for its part, has conducted military operations in the country nearly continuously since 9/11. Today, war with the Taliban persists, and tensions between the U.S. and Pakistan have gradually deteriorated. As his time in office drew to a close, President Obama limited further withdrawal of U.S. troops from Afghanistan. The incoming administration has a choice: will it maintain the status quo, completely reverse the Obama administration drawdown or withdraw completely? Does the U.S. face a no win situation in Afghanistan and Pakistan? Dr. Karl Kaltenthaler is a professor of political science at the University of Akron. His research and teaching focuses on security policy, political violence, political psychology, public opinion and political behavior, terrorism, counterterrorism and xenophobia.

Saudi Arabia in Transition
Saturday, December 30, 2017 at 10:00 a.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
As Saudi Arabia struggles to adjust to the drastic decline in oil revenue, Deputy Crown Prince Mohammad bin Salman attempts to boldly transform the country and shift more power to the younger generation. At the same time, many countries such as the U.S. point out the lack of democracy, women’s rights and human rights in Saudi Arabia, and blame its promotion of Wahhabism, an extremely conservative version of Islam, for creating jihadists. Bipartisan criticism of Saudi Arabia is rising in Congress. Both countries need each other, but they are at a crossroads in bilateral relations.
Coast Line: Poetry Reading Series
Readings by Carly Haufe, Philip Metres and Rob Rosin
Wednesday, October 4, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Born in Michigan and transplanted to Cleveland, Carly Haufe’s poetry is concerned mainly with the intricacies and impact of interpersonal relationships, the power of place, and the relentless longing to discover where one belongs. She graduated from Case Western Reserve University in 2015 with a MA in Philosophy and Literature.

Philip Metres is the author of Pictures at an Exhibition, Sand Opera, I Burned at the Feast: Selected Poems of Arseny Tarkovsky and To See the Earth. His work has garnered a Lannan fellowship, two NEAs, the Hunt Prize for Excellence in Journalism, Arts & Letters, two Arab American Book Awards, the Cleveland Arts Prize and a PEN/Heim Translation Fund grant. He is professor of English at John Carroll University in Cleveland.

Rob Rosin has lived in Cleveland for nine years and has written poetry for twenty-two, becoming a regular reader at The Lit Cafe where he always consumed just the right amount of whiskey and just the right number of cigarettes and always said the right thing. He enjoys painting, being silent in the woods and playing accordion and generally dislikes anything written in the third person. Rosin was a butcher for a while and a forklift driver for much longer. Any other rumors you’ve heard about him is agitprop perpetrated by his incredibly powerful enemies.

Coast Line: Poetry Reading Series
Readings by Sarah Marcus-Donnelly, Eris Eady and AKeemjamal Rollins
Wednesday, December 6, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Sarah Marcus-Donnelly is the author of They Were Bears, Nothing Good Ever Happens After Midnight, and the chapbooks Backcountry and Every Bird, To You. Her other work can be found at NPR’s Prosody, The Huffington Post, McSweeney’s, Cimarron Review, Spork, The Establishment, Cosmopolitan.com and Marie Claire.com SA, among others. She is an editor at Gazing Grain Press and the Series Editor for As It Ought To Be’s High School Poetry Series: Gender, Identity, & Race. She holds an MFA in poetry from George Mason University.

AKeemjamal Rollins is a poet from Cleveland. He has been featured on Button Poetry, The Huffington Post, and many other outlets for his literary works. He is currently the slam master of The People, Cleveland’s Poetry Slam incorporated certified venue. His work examines imagination, identity, and discusses mental illness, social justice and often pays homage to Africa.

Eris Eady is a writer, artist, intersectional advocate and consultant from Cleveland. Her writing has been featured in The Guardian, For Harriet and The Root. She’s interviewed with the BBC and Al Jazeera. Eady is currently obtaining her Master’s in Positive Organizational Development & Change from the Weatherhead School of Management at Case Western Reserve University.

Coast Line Poetry Readings

Last season the Library honored National Poetry Month by creating our own poetry reading series. Once we got started we couldn’t stop! This season we have invited even more poets to keep the verses coming during our Coast Line: Poetry Reading Series, Lakewood Public Library’s reoccurring poetry series showcasing our community’s poetic talent.
Coast Line: Poetry Reading Series
Readings by Mary Biddinger, Caryl Pagel and Michelle R. Smith
Wednesday, February 7, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Akron poet Mary Biddinger is the author of five books of poetry, and she is Professor and Assistant Chair of the English Department at the University of Akron, where she is on the faculty of the NEOMFA: Northeast Ohio Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing program. Her works include Prairie Fever, the chapbook Saint Monica, O Holy Insurgency, A Sunny Place with Adequate Water, Small Enterprise and a collaboration with Jay Robinson titled The Czar. She is also the co-editor of a volume of essays, The Monkey and the Wrench: Essays into Contemporary Poetics.

Caryl Pagel is the author of two collections of poetry: Twice Told and Experiments I Should Like Tried At My Own Death. Her nonfiction has appeared in AGNI, Entropy, Essay Press, The Mississippi Review, and Wave Composition and she is currently at work on a collection of linked essays entitled The Reality of the Unseen. Pagel is the co-founder and editor of Rescue Press, the Director of the Cleveland State University Poetry Center, and an Assistant Professor at Cleveland State University where she teaches in the NEOMFA Program.

Michelle R. Smith is an Afro-Black writer, educator, feminist and media activist, living and working out of Ohio, with passionate interests in intersectional (black) feminism, the intimacy crisis in the black community, feminist mothering, reproductive rights, scholastic revisionist history, body politics and the ways in which pop culture reflects and refracts political culture. She has had poems published in Poemmemoirstory, Meridians: feminism, race, transnationalism, and Guide to Kulchur Creative Journal. Her first published volume of poetry is Ariel in Black on Guide to Kulchur (GTK) Press.

Unbowed Sparrows Flutter Quietly
by Zena Smith and the Patrons of Lakewood Public Library

The glumly bloated pillow on my bed lays weary
In ways it is resplendent, eternally unemployed
Lazily immortal
Yawns are swallowed by it
Crimson Dreams imparted
Pungent coffee steams, hours away
Tantalizing drowsy Texans in Holiday Inns
Driving to Cleveland perhaps
Or speeding triumphantly to Cozumel
Where mellifluous tom-toms cough creamy beats capricious lizards eagerly dance
Over the slumbering face of a podiatrist in Denver
The needle plunges passionately into the bonus track
Unleashed zealously on the turntable
Exquisite avocado boldly wearing purple
sweetly disemboweled green
A universe away, feet twitch under covers
Fleeting emerald buttons combust as photosynthesis rushes softly on Squished greenish-purple cup, hazel-hughes of its round heart
Now painted with spit
By heartbreaker long since cartwheeled into a cactus Whispers of reality beckon, but the earthly ghost is gaily obsolete here
On this luminous canvas maniacally stamped by horses for as long as the darkness slyly whispers ebony poetry
Until the hazy orange rises dolefully to overpaint fantasy
Tenaciously dream in extravagant color
Only to be savagely snapped out of radiance
Goodmorning, early morning
Friendly half-cadaver, wicked dawn
Blue prostitute lightly sighs herself away
Replaced by the fulminant appearance of citizens
languid in the monotony of grinding work
Septuagenarians, up and at you
Cheerfully follow bird’s song to Drug Mart
Shuffle soulfully through aisles of pears
Veiled in the rays of gold beckoning from between trees
Splattered across sempervirent shrubbery, waxy leaves glitter vivacious as Christmas lights
And yet I am prickly with discontent, languid under this cosmic fire
Sunrise, wrestle the wild night owl
Converting blissful satisfaction into rotten consternation
on the business end of a rose-colored revolver
Scornfully awake, dragging body morosely out to smoke
Lurid high noon, what to do with you?
acerbically participate in rituals
aches screams dryly in my queer socket
Wisteria crochet glamorous patterns on the eye
a hurricane of children on the playground
Silent butterflies adorn the school lawn
Skateboarder, librarian, and telephone operator
commune over patio table
Simoleons on the check, fruit in the cheek
Voraciously eat up and cut out
Transubstantiation, my blood is wine leftover from night
a bookbag full of theory in a knuckle-hard football bar
Set to the record of WWE blaring savagely over speakers
Shooting twisted evil over rancid food tray
Swiftly explode into latex-smooth drunk, ratiocination absent in the fifty-six nevermind this demonic alligator
metallic bull, thundering anvil, black eye don’t remain eternally
Nauseously gulp dandelion tea, gingerly bite tongue
Usher in another malevolent Tuesday
MORE PROGRAMMING

National Novel Writing Month
National Novel Writing Month is an annual internet-based project that takes place during the month of November. Participants sign up online, and the challenge is to write a 50,000 word novel in thirty days. NaNoWriMo started in 1999 with twenty-one participants, and now hundreds of thousand people sign up online to participate. Will you take on the challenge this year? The Library is here to support you! For more information on NaNoWriMo visit nanowrimo.org.

Interactive Program: Secret Passages
The Month of November
Main Library Atrium
How well do you remember the novels you’ve read? Are you good at making an educated guess? Try your luck with The Secret Passages Matching Game! Match a random passage from a novel to its title and enter for a chance to win that book. Choose a paper slip printed with a mystery passage and read it carefully. When you have decided what novel the passage is from, print your name and phone number in the designated space on the slip, and submit it to the box that represents that novel. At the end of the month, one patron who has guessed correctly will be selected from each box to win that novel.

National Novel Writing Month Open Rooms
The Month of November
Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 5:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.
Saturdays from 12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.
Sundays from 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
If you’re taking on the National Novel Writing Month challenge you might find yourself in need of a quiet space to write those 1,500 words a day. The Library will be providing a dedicated quiet room for one hour a day during November. So you can stop in and complete word-sprint, or plan ahead when you will turn off Netflix and complete those 50,000 words!

Writing & Reality
Presentation by Mindy McGinnis
Monday, November 13, 2017 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Once you finish your novel what will you do with it? Author Mindy McGinnis will walk you through the publication process, from brainstorming to bookstores. Includes query tips, how to find an agent, the editing process and how to promote your work. McGinnis is an Edgar award-winning author with multiple published books available from both HarperCollins and Penguin. She also runs a blog for aspiring writers at Writer, Writer Pants on Fire, which features interviews with agents, established authors and debut authors. Learn how they landed their agents, what the submission process is really like, and how it feels when you see your cover for the first time.
The Importance of STEM and STEM Education

Presentation by Jeffrey Csank
Tuesday, November 7, 2017
Main Library Multipurpose Room

Jeffrey Csank is an electrical engineer in the Power Management and Distribution Branch at the NASA Glenn Research Engineer in Cleveland. His work includes designing automated power systems for future deep space exploration missions and power systems for hybrid electric aircraft. Csank previously played a major role in the development of several software packages for the modeling and analysis of gas turbine engines and Gas Path Diagnostics. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master’s of Science of Electrical Engineering from Cleveland State University. Csank will give an overview of what exactly STEM is, and why the United States should be focusing on STEM education at all stages of learning, using examples from his experience working on space power system projects.

Documentary: For All Mankind (1989)
Directed by Al Reinert
Tuesday, November 28, 2017 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

The Apollo program may be best known for the Apollo 11 moon landing, but there is much more to the story of NASA’s mission to put man on the moon. The nineteen Apollo missions spanning from 1966 to 1972 were feats of scientific magnitude that also served as an introduction to the world beyond the planet Earth. The celestial views utilize footage from the original Apollo missions and include a sunrise from space, close-up pictures of the moon, and a view of the earth as a whole circle. Astronauts provide commentary along with mission control agents. The film takes the viewer on a full-fledged voyage to the moon, from the donning of space suits to the return to earth.

Patrons line up in Library lobby to receive eclipse glasses, 2017.

Cataloguing our Queer Communities
Looking for more safe spaces? Do you think safe spaces are a millennial invention? The Lakewood Public Library in collaboration with the LGBT Community Center is putting on a series of events focusing on Queer communities, in an effort to strengthen our local communities and promote inter-communal empathy and dialogue.

Calling in Our Communities
Presentations by Giorgi DeVito and Harmony Moon
Presented by the LGBT Community Center of Greater Cleveland
Tuesday, January 9, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Allyship is essential for us all to work towards liberation. Yet sometimes, for individuals to enter into positive allyship, difficulty can arise in figuring out how to start. This series of TED talk styled presentations by guest speakers from the greater Cleveland community is designed to help promote empathy and awareness for allies of the LGBTQ+ community. Giorgi DeVito will speak on the importance of using pronouns and gender identity versus assigned sex, and Harmony Moon will talk about comprehensive sex education.

Queers, Jeers, and Beers: The Relationship between Alcohol and Other Drugs and the LGBTQ Community
Presentation by Ken Schneck
Presented by B. Riley Sober House
Wednesday, January 10, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
What little research has been conducted all results in one glaring fact: If straight folks are using alcohol and other drugs (AOD), LGBTQ folks are using AOD more. In fact, some studies show that the LGBTQ community is two to three times more likely to interact with substances than their straight peers. Through this lively, interactive session we’re going to chat about that tricky connection between being queer and using drugs. Dr. Ken Schneck is the producer/host of This Show is So Gay, the long-running, award-winning radio show and podcast. He is a frequent contributor to the Huffington Post and just released his first book, Seriously, What Am I Doing Here? The Adventures of a Wondering and Wandering Gay Jew. In his spare time, he is an Associate Professor and the Director of the Leadership in Higher Education Program at Baldwin Wallace University.

Forum: Entertainment as Activism
Presented by the LGBT Community Center of Greater Cleveland
Tuesday, January 16, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
In our modern world, activism can take many forms. Whether one is petitioning to affect policy or sharing social media content with a good message, both can be considered activism. Join the Lakewood public library for an evening of dialogue around the subject of Entertainment as Activism with a Q&A panel of Cleveland locals who promote positive change through their work in entertainment and nightlife. This is a community discussion to discuss how we can all better work to promote positive change in the ways we are uniquely capable. Panelists will include Shane Christian from In Training, Kyle Kidd from the LGBT Center of Greater Cleveland and Samuel Tate from Black Space productions.

Directed by Aaron Bear
Presented by BRAVO
Tuesday, January 23, 2018 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Follow the transformation of Kim, a fifty-year-old transgender man from Seattle. Join his journey through top surgery, finding the perfect words for his family and finally navigating the world as the person he was always meant to be. Finding Kim takes the viewer through this transition in detail, answering questions that many have regarding the significant decision a transgender individual makes to find their identity. Kim’s life is captured by producer, Aaron Bear and cinematographer, Gabriel Bienyczycki, and features experience and advice from others active in the LGBTQ community.
Cleveland’s Community Read: Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City

The City Club of Cleveland and the Libraries of Cleveland and surrounding cities are working together to bring Matthew Desmond’s book, Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City, to as many citizens as possible. This book covers a topic that affects every city in America, including our own, and it is the goal of this incentive to start a community conversation about eviction and poverty.

Literature Discussion: Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City

Presented by Dr. Roland Anglin
Monday, January 15, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
in the Main Library Multipurpose Room
Thursday, February 1, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
in the Madison Branch Auditorium

For more than ten million households in America, life is a daily struggle as residents spend more than half of their income on rent and utilities. Libraries across the county will discuss the book Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City by Matthew Desmond. Evicted follows the plights of eight Milwaukee families as they struggle financially in the midst of appalling poverty and exploitation by unscrupulous landlords. Leading the discussion of Evicted is Dr. Roland V. Anglin, the Dean of Cleveland State University’s Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs. An academic and author, Dr. Anglin is committed to community economic development. Join us in finding real solutions to our housing crisis and in celebrating the power of books to create a stronger community.

Landlord and Tenant Rights

Presentation by the Cleveland Metropolitan Bar Association
Tuesday, February 20, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Cleveland and the surrounding cities, like Lakewood, have a large amount of rental homes and tenets. Leading to many landlord and tenant relationships. Are you one half of one of this sometimes stressful partnerships? Do you know your rights if you find you need to evict a tenant, or what your rights are if you are the one being evicted? This presentation will help you navigate these complicated questions, and some less serious questions. Sherrie Royster is a partner in the Cleveland office of Lewis Brisbois and a member of the General Liability Practice.

Documentary: If These Walls Could Talk (2017)

Directed by Chris Webb
Wednesday, February 21, 2018 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room

What would happen if abandoned houses in Cleveland had voices? What stories would 100-year-old structures tell if they had the opportunity and chance to do so? If These Walls Could Talk is an interactive documentary experience like no other. This feature-length documentary highlights Northeast Ohio’s history, present problems and future solutions from the innovative perspective of three vacant homes on Cleveland’s East Side. Using a unique blend of 2 and 3-D animation, live action and documentary elements, this film is geared to educate and entertain all ages; crafted to enter schools and neighborhoods with meaningful themes of purpose, perseverance and pride in one’s roots. Written, Directed, Edited and Starring Chris Webb, this film was made possible through the Community Partnership for Arts and Culture, Cuyahoga Arts and Culture, The Cleveland Leadership Center and National Arts Strategies.

Documentary: The Last Trailer Park (2016)

Directed by Raychel Brightman
Presented by Cleveland Tenants Organization
Tuesday, February 27, 2018 at 6:30 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Inside the last trailer park in Nassau County, a tight-knit community has dispersed after a spirited nine-year legal battle that the residents were never equipped to fight. Many of the eighty families lost hope and moved away long ago. Newsday followed the last remaining family as it struggled against a deadline to find an alternative to becoming homeless. Harvard University professor Matthew Desmond made a trailer park his home for about half a year and watched as families were evicted and forced into shelters. Desmond took thousands of pages of notes as he chronicled their stories. That research has been called “the most comprehensive, detailed data on American urban poverty, housing and eviction” and is now the foundation of his book Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City. After the screening of The Last Trailer Park, we will also be showing a news interview with Desmond as he talks about the documentary and his book.
Who are the Friends of Lakewood Public Library?
The Friends of Lakewood Public Library are a group of volunteers who raise funds for Library programs and services, primarily through seasonal sales of donated books and other materials. With reduced prices on books, magazines, compact discs and DVDs, the sales are a bargain hunter’s dream.

Donations come from multiple sources: individuals, schools, libraries, hospitals, businesses and more. Books range in age from vintage to brand new. Sale proceeds support Lakewood Public Library’s acclaimed programming, including free lectures, concerts, films and youth programs, as well as the Library van, which delivers books to classrooms and homebound readers.

The Friends also participate in community outreach programs with organizations that support worthy causes such as early childhood literacy and healthy lifestyles for children.

For a nominal amount, citizens can join the Friends and gain admission to preview book sales, which precede sales to the general public.

To learn more about the friends please visit lakewoodpubliclibrary.org/friends.

The Creature from Jekyll Island
Presentation by WordStage
Sunday, September 10, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

A secret gathering at a secluded island off the coast of Georgia in held under the guise of a recreational duck hunt from November 20, 1910 – November 30, 1910 laid the foundations for the Federal Reserve System. The scheme was predominantly devised by six men – Nelson Aldrich, A. Piatt Andrew, Henry Davison, Arthur Shelton, Frank Vanderlip and Paul Warburg - aided and abetted by America’s foremost financier, J. Pierpont Morgan – who met at the Jekyll Island Club, off the coast of Georgia, to write a plan to reform the nation’s banking system, in reaction to the great financial panic of 1907. The meeting and its purpose were closely guarded secrets, and participants did not admit that the meeting occurred until the 1930s. But the plan written on Jekyll Island created the foundation for what would eventually be the Federal Reserve System as we know it today.

Blu Monsoon
Sunday, September 17, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Blu Monsoon – the freshest, most original band in Ohio - is a group of talented, award-winning, college musicians who have come together to form a band dedicated to creating original music that has broad appeal without being cliché or predictable. Blu Monsoon was formed in early 2012 after the demise of a local cover band that included Mike Schirch (keys) and Jeff Jeric (bass). They immediately sought out Adam Hradisky (drums), who played with Mike and Jeff in the Brecksville High School jazz band. They are known for their versatility by playing equally well ranging from full instrumentation to “unplugged” based on the audience and venue. They are changing the local music scene by offering original jazz-influenced music, standards and cool pop covers.
Music and the Movies starring Eileen Burns
Sunday, September 24, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Music and the Movies is an entertaining and informative program featuring memorable songs and interesting stories from classic Hollywood films such as Casablanca, Swing Time, A Star is Born, Brigadoon, Singin’ in the Rain and many more. Performed by the lead talented vocalist Eileen Burns and her jazz combo comprised of excellent professional jazz musicians. Burns’ performing credits include a year traveling around the world as the female vocalist for the World Famous Glenn Miller Orchestra and five years as the female host/singer with the long-running Midnight Martini Show.

Q.S. Jazz
Sunday, October 1, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Jazz is not about when a song was written or what instrumentation is used to perform a song. Jazz is more an approach, vibe or interpretation. Many of the standards of this genre were simply pop songs of the day. Q.S. Jazz was born from this very mindset. Utilizing a traditional quintet Q.S. Jazz performs material that might seem nontraditional but is 100 percent jazz. Q.S. Jazz started out as a trio of musicians who loved the classic style of jazz and embraced all forms of music. Bringing their own interpretations of jazz classics and “jazzing up” their renditions of blues and even rock tunes, Q.S. Jazz has been captivating audiences across northeast Ohio for over four years. The trio has expanded to be a “trio of five” and includes the guitar stylings and vocals of Don Goodman, Herbert Pruitt on bass and vocals, Xavier Ali on trombone, Harry Baccus on drums and Saam Cabot on vocals, flute and saxophone.

Homestead Collective
Sunday, October 8, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Homestead Collective is Caitlyn Deviney and Ben Morris, two intentionally independent, nonconformist musicians based outside Philadelphia. Their folk/pop style is influenced by bands such as Nickel Creek, James Taylor, Billie Marten and Drew Holcomb. Memorable melodies and intricate instrumentation combined with haunting, honest lyrics - they write stories through song that we all want to tell.

David Drazin Jazz Piano Concert
Sunday, October 15, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
David will perform a solo piano concert of jazz, blues and show tunes, emphasizing the hot piano styles of yesteryear. He will introduce each number, detailing the composers and history of the tunes, and some of the original recordings. When one listens to jazz performers of the past through the medium of recordings, quite often the sound produced by these performers is recognizable within seconds of their first being heard. One could say: “Oh, that’s Fats Waller, that’s Albert Ammons, that’s Charlie Parker.” It wasn’t merely the songs, but the people who played them that made the music, and these songs continue to be the vehicle through which today’s performers (including David) attempt to achieve their own sound. By performing Harlem Stride, Boogie Woogie, Bebop and beyond, David will provide an audible capsule history of jazz.
SUNDAY WITH THE FRIENDS

Jazz Clinic Series
Led by Chris Vance
Sunday, October 29, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
How would you like to be more involved with the performances? Would you like to hear from the musicians, get background on the songs and instruments and ask the questions during performances? This four part series will allow you to do all of those things and more. Chris Vance leads a series of concerts dealing with various specific topics in jazz. Each concert will consist of performances by a wide array of artists, a brief lecture dealing with the topic at hand, and a Q & A session where audience members can engage with the performers. Each guest artist will be drawn from the wide ranging local jazz community as well as local colleges. Example topics include the core elements of what makes jazz, the influence of the blues, Latin, Brazilian and rock & roll in jazz, specific genres/time periods in the development of jazz and specific luminary jazz artists. This series will make the connection between our community, the regional jazz community and the academic jazz community- professional, hobbyists and laymen alike.

Asking for a Friend Improv Group
Sunday, November 5, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Asking for a Friend is a long-form improv troupe comprised of four female performers. In traditional improv fashion, the performers make up all of their scenes on the spot. To gain inspiration for these scenes, AFAF reads randomly-selected entries from their REAL childhood diaries. Then, after their performance the show wraps up with a short improv jam where volunteers are welcome to take the stage.

Paulo Costa Trio
Sunday, November 12, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The Paulo Costa Trio is the culmination of three Brazilian friends who inspire audiences with their passion for Brazilian music. Lead singer and guitarist Paulo Costa, Trombonist Felipe Brito and Percussionist Davi Lira, bring together the energetic and rhythmically unique styles of Bossa Nova, Samba, Forró, Maracatu, Baião and Frevo. Costa has been playing the acoustic guitar since the age of fifteen, and has perfected several Brazilian rhythms like samba, bossa nova, forró, maracatu and baião. In addition to being members of Paulo Costa Trio, percussionist Lira also works as a percussion instructor with the Contemporary Youth Orchestra, and Brito is the Principal Trombonist for the Cleveland Opera Theater Orchestra.
Hip to That

Sunday, November 19, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Hip to That is a Cleveland Jazz Quartet, who has been performing all over the Cleveland area for almost three years. Maria DiDonato, Joe Rangel, Lee Kolarik and Dave “Ziggy” Deitke met as music students at Cleveland State University and formed a bond that survived graduation. They specialize in jazz standards, Great American Songbook charts and pop tunes that have a distinctive jazz twist added by the band. For example, their favorite number to play together is a mash up of two standards, Ray Charles’ “Hit the Road Jack” and Peggy Lee’s “Fever”. This is a diverse, young jazz combo determined to knock your socks off.

Ogni Suono: Saxopone Duo

Sunday, December 3, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Often likened to the human voice, the saxophone possesses an inherently singing quality that serves as a visceral bond between performer and listener. As something each of us uses every day, the human voice offers a uniquely universal point of entry for audiences into the world of contemporary music. Ogni Suono’s program features commissioned works from SaxoVoce, a long-term project exploring the wide-ranging musical, dramatic, and theatrical possibilities inherent in the synthesis of saxophone and voice. Ogni Suono has shared SaxoVoce with audiences in New York City, Boston, Buffalo, San Francisco, Detroit, Atlanta and Chicago. Ogni Suono’s current SaxoVoce program will feature works by Felipe Lara, Chris Fisher-Lochhead, Erin Rogers, Dave Reminick, Zach Sheets and Kate Soper. The voice is used in drastically different ways throughout the program. While some pieces call for shouting, yelling and murmuring, others require the performers to sing through the saxophone, whisper, and create air sounds.
SUNDAY WITH THE FRIENDS

Sommerfugl
Sunday, December 10, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
A dance of violin and guitars, two exquisitely intertwined harmonious voices, a wandering through many moods and genres, this is the music and realm of Sommerfugl (“summer-fool” - Danish/Norwegian for butterfly). And as beautiful as a free butterfly on a summer’s day, here is an eclectic mix of love songs, torch songs, duets and originals. They are on a now six year odyssey to explore some of the best music you may not have heard, including a wealth of our own creating, as well as a sprinkling of familiar tunes that you just might want to sing along with. This time out they will be featuring some of our best December holiday material, some of it original and some of it you may know. Come and revel with us and let your hearts be light on these cold, dark days.

Drumplay
Sunday, December 17, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
As Cleveland’s world/jazz outfit, Drumplay’s sound is a wide open one—combining various percussive elements with strings and horns. Exploring Afro-Cuban, Brazilian and Middle Eastern motifs in timbre and texture, their approach is purely rhythmic but gives way to a jazz bent and space between notes. “Rhythmprovisation” is how founding member James Onysko explains their modus operandi. That is, “the goal of there being no two performances alike.” A close listen to their dozen releases gives evidence to this idea.

Night Terrors
Sunday, January 7, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Night Terrors performs like a dream gone awry; giving yourself in is the only reality that makes sense. Experimental textures are created with the use of many electronic pedals on the guitar from hauntedly quiet and round to jagged pulsing squeals. The percussion ranges from the harsh sounds of china cymbals to meditative singing bowls to any form of drumming. Tim Mirth is a musician from Akron, who has performed music in various ensembles and solo performances ranging from classical guitar recitals, Jazz Metal in his band Red Side Visible, jazz fusion in Paul Stranahan’s various ensembles and modern metal band Ceterum. Paul Stranahan is a percussionist, composer and music teacher. Stranahan graduated from the Conservatory of Music at Capital University, and now plays in a handful of ensembles including The Paul Stranahan Jazz Trio and, of course, Night Terrors.

Mary Beth Ions
Sunday, January 14, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Professional violinist Mary Beth Ions will take you on a journey through the ages from Bach to Broadway, from country fiddle tunes to fiery Gypsy music, even the use of the violin in the Trans-Siberian Orchestra and for American Idol! Her compelling story-telling inspires awe of the violin, its history and how this queen of instruments has developed through the centuries into the shining star it is today. Ions is one of Northeast Ohio’s most active musicians; she plays in the Cleveland Pops Orchestra and at Playhouse Square for the Broadway Series. She is an active freelancer with plenty of interesting and fun tales from Cleveland’s “musical trenches.” You’ll hear the voice of the violin up close and personal and experience the variety of beautiful sounds it produces and emotions it evokes!

The Hollywood Slim Band
Sunday, January 28, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The Hollywood Slim Band is a unique member of Cleveland’s blues family. The band has been entertaining Clevelanders with their swing/jazz/blues music for over 40 years and still enjoys adding arrangements to their repertoire. This translates into music that remains fresh, though some of it is over seventy years old! The band plays rhythm & blues and jazz styles from the 1930s through the 1960s, and gives some of the arrangements their own touch with their three part vocal harmonies. The band plays renditions of music by artists such as Little Walter Jacobs, Ray Charles, Louis Jordan and The Nat King Cole Trio.

Keep Talking
Sunday, February 4, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Originally starting out as a way for comedians to tell stories that didn’t quite fit with their open mic set lists, Keep Talking has grown a serious audience to their monthly shows in the basement bar of Happy Dog, Underdog. For one Sunday only stories will be told in the Library basement as well! Keep Talking features five storytellers, all of whom have submitted and had their stories approved in advance by organizers Zachariah Durr of Cleveland and Adam Richard of Medina. Something that sets this story telling performance apart is that the theme is always changing, as well as those telling them.

Doug and Arleigh from Cellocentric
Sunday, February 11, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Award-winning local finger-style guitarist Doug Wood, and Cleveland Institute of Music graduate and bassoonist Arleigh Savage represent the ensemble, Cellocentric. Since his days of performing in the Boston subways in the early 1990’s, Wood has earned the status as one of the premier independent acoustic performers in the country, and Savage has performed with Ohio Light Opera, North Coast Winds, CityMusic Cleveland and Cleveland Opera Theater. The duo will perform classically-infused original instrumental folk music inspired by the world music and jazz traditions, along with unique arrangements of recognizable tunes.
Jen Maurer and Anthony Papaleo
Sunday, February 18, 2018 at 2:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

This Rockin Duo performs a unique blend of Blues and Americana, featuring a standup bass, dueling vocals and a killer electric guitar! These well seasoned musicians have played in and around Ohio for years in groups such as Mo’ MoJo, Jen Maurer Music, The Rhondas, Hoseff and many more. Jen Maurer is a local standout, always out there publicly growing and satisfying her musical mind, taking us with her on a roller coaster ride of variety (Zydeco, Bluegrass, Old-Time, Americana, Blues, Ragtime). She’s traveled the U.S. and world serving as a musical ambassador with the US Department of State.

The Invisible Man (1933)
Directed by James Whale
Saturday, September 2, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
While working in Dr. Cranley’s laboratory, scientist Jack Griffin (Claude Rains) discovers an invisibility serum and uses himself as a test subject. Disaster strikes when he can’t reverse the process. Disguising himself with bandages, Jack goes into hiding at a nearby inn. Meanwhile his sweetheart Flora (Gloria Stuart) is worried about his sudden disappearance. When Dr. Cranley (Henry Travers) and Dr. Kemp (William Harrigan) discover what their co-worker has become, they devise a plan to capture him. It may be too late as the serum wreaks havoc on Jack, driving him to madness and murder. This film is based on the 1897 novel by H.G. Wells. Taking a novel and turning it into a film script is no easy task. This season we will share a few of our favorite conversions, with this series of films based on books.

Little Big Man (1970)
Directed by Arthur Penn
Saturday, September 9, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
By the beginning of the 1970s, filmmakers had already begun to question the conventional narrative of the Hollywood western. They wanted to tell new stories, stories about what life (and death), was really like in the American west. Terry Meehan rides back into town with a new film series, Revisionist Westerns of the 1970s, introducing each film with an original video, followed by audience reaction and a lively discussion. First up is Little Big Man, the story of Jack Crabb (Dustin Hoffman), a 121-year-old survivor who lived through the entire Old West era. He was raised by the Cheyenne, played poker with Wild Bill Hickok and was the only white survivor of the Battle of Little Bighorn. He also knew General George Custer...for a while.

Race (2016)
Directed by Stephen Hopkins
Saturday, September 16, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Cleveland’s Jesse Owens (Stephan James) attends Ohio State University, achieving track and field prominence. His coach Larry Snyder (Jason Sudeikis) recognizes Owens’ Olympic potential. The U.S Olympic organizations are debating if a team should be sent into Adolf Hitler’s Third Reich for the upcoming 1936 Games. Avery Brundage (Jeremy Irons) makes a compelling case to go, and Owens qualifies for the squad. In the running long jump event, Germany boasts reigning European champion Carl “Luz” Long (David Kross), Owens’ most formidable challenger. With the Games about to begin, excitement and tensions run high. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.

Their Eyes Were Watching God (2005)
Directed by Darnell Martin
Saturday, September 23, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Free-spirited Janie Crawford (Halle Berry) lives in 1920s Florida. She marries a local farmer at the insistence of her grandmother (Ruby Dee), but finds that marriage is not what she thought it would be. Janie searches for happiness through relationships with a mayor (Ruben Santiago-Hudson) and a drifter (Michael Ealy). Chasing after her dreams of love and happiness leaves Janie as the subject of gossip in her small town. Based on the 1937 novel by Zora Neale Hurston, this film continues our series of films based on books.
Atonement (2007)
Directed by Joe Wright
Saturday, September 30, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
When Briony Tallis (Saoirse Ronan) catches her sister Cecilia (Keira Knightley) in a passionate embrace with their servant’s son Robbie Turner (James McAvoy), she misinterprets what is happening out of her own infatuation with Robbie. Her lie grows and results in Robbie’s imprisonment and eventual enlistment into the army in the midst of World War II. An older Briony joins the war effort as a nurse and, upon realizing her youthful error, seeks to reconcile with her estranged sister and with the man whose life she destroyed. Based on the 2001 novel by Ian McEwan, this film continues our series of films based on books.

One Flew Over the Cuckoo’s Nest (1975)
Directed by Milos Forman
Saturday, October 7, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
R.P. McMurphy (Jack Nicholson) is a crook who pleads insanity to avoid prison. McMurphy trades the labor camp and work detail for the mental institution and shock therapy. His dreams of comfort and luxury are quickly dashed. It turns out that the mental institution has its very own warden in the form of Nurse Ratched (Louise Fletcher), who runs the ward with an iron fist. McMurphy and his fellow inmates Billy Bibbit (Brad Dourif) and “Chief” Bromden (Will Sampson) band together and take a stand against the nurse. Based on the 1963 novel by Ken Kesey, this film continues our series of films based on books.

McCabe & Mrs. Miller (1971)
Directed by Robert Altman
Saturday, October 14, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
John McCabe (Warren Beatty) arrives in the town of Presbyterian Church, Washington and establishes a makeshift brothel. Constance Miller (Julie Christie) approaches him with ideas on how they could run the operation more profitably. They are approached by mining moguls who want to take over. The offer comes with inducements in the form of hired hit men. But the townspeople are not worried, because the mysterious McCabe is a legendary gunfighter . . . right? Altman called this film an “Anti-Western” because of the way it subverts many of the genre’s conventions. Terry Meehan continues his series on Revisionist Westerns of the 1970s, introducing each film with an original video, followed by audience reaction and a lively discussion.

Sherlock Holmes: A Game of Shadows (2011)
Directed by Guy Ritchie
Saturday, October 21, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Late 19th century London is famous for the 221B Baker Street address of eccentric genius Sherlock Holmes (Robert Downey, Jr.). Dr. John Watson (Jude Law) remains his grounded, loyal friend and other half of the intrepid crime solving duo. In the wake of seemingly unrelated murders, Holmes and Watson investigate. The more they learn, it’s obvious Holmes’ arch-enemy Professor Moriarty (Jared Harris) has his evil fingerprints all over it, and he plans something big. What seems like the final showdown in the saga of Holmes and Moriarty happens above Switzerland’s famous Reichenbach Falls. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.
Unbroken (2014)

Saturday, October 28, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Olympian Louis “Louie” Zamperini (Jack O’Connell) trades feats of athleticism for military service during World War II. After a near-fatal plane crash, Louie floats in a lifeboat for forty-seven days, but his fight for survival is not over yet. Louie is caught by the Japanese navy and sent to a prisoner of war camp, where he comes head to head with an especially cruel commander known as “the Bird” (Miyavi). The Bird singles Louie out for his athleticism and puts him through a series of soul-crushing physical challenges. Based on the 2010 book by Laura Hillenbrand, this film continues our series of films based on books.

Forrest Gump (1994)
Directed by Robert Zemeckis
Saturday, November 4, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Forrest Gump (Tom Hanks) is a simple man who makes up for his lack of intelligence with good intentions and a whole lot of heart. The boy from Alabama runs through life and accidentally achieves greatness along the way. His ability to be in the right place at the right time leads him to a life filled with success: meeting presidents, earning medals, starting a ping-pong craze, creating a fleet of shrimping boats and inspiring the people he meets. Despite his accolades, there is only one person Forrest wants to impress: his childhood friend and true love Jenny (Robin Wright). Based on the 1986 novel by Winston Groom, this film continues our series of movies based on books.

Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid (1973)
Directed by Sam Peckinpah
Saturday, November 11, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Pat Garrett (James Coburn) and Billy the Kid (Kris Kristofferson) are old pals passing the time in Lincoln County, New Mexico. Garrett, however, is about to become Sheriff, and when he does, he will have to run Billy out of town. Violent gunplay ensues. The Pat Garrett/William Bonney confrontation has been filmed many times, but never more “revisionist” than Peckinpah’s imaginative version. He even considered ending the story with Billy’s survival. Bob Dylan wrote the score and plays a character called Alias. Terry Meehan continues his series on Revisionist Westerns of the 1970s, introducing each film with an original video, followed by audience reaction and a lively discussion.

The Mambo Kings (1992)
Directed by Arne Glimcher
Saturday, November 18, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
The musically talented Castillo brothers, Cesar (Armand Assante) and Nestor (Antonio Banderas), are forced to flee Cuba. On the way to New York, they dream of making it big in the world of Latino music. Once there, Nestor studies English while Cesar focuses on women, wine and song. Lanna Lake (Cathy Moriarty) catches his fancy. The duo endures career disappointments before success finds them. Nestor has begun dating Delores Fuentes (Maruschka Detmers). The relationship gets serious, and he’s eager to introduce her to Cesar. Cesar’s first glance at Delores speaks volumes. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.

Directed by Marc Forster
Saturday, November 25, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

In 1970s Afghanistan, two boys from conflicting ethnic groups bond over the popular pastime of kite fighting. After Amir witnesses an attack on Hassan, he is haunted by his cowardly behavior, and their lives are changed forever. Years later, an adult Amir (Khalid Abdalla) is an aspiring writer living in the United States. A phone call from Afghanistan gives Amir a second chance to come to Hassan’s rescue, and he returns to his homeland to set things right. Based on the 2009 novel by Khaled Hosseini, this film continues our series of films based on books.

Of Mice and Men (1992)
Directed by Gary Sinise
Saturday, December 2, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Two drifters wander the country looking for work during the Great Depression. Quick-witted George (Gary Sinise) and mentally disabled Lennie (John Malkovich) become field hands at the Tyler Ranch. George provides the brains while Lennie provides the brawn, but trouble follows as the other ranch hands become suspicious of the mismatched pair. Lennie’s love for soft things gets him in trouble and forces George to abandon their dream of owning their own land. Based on the 1937 novella by John Steinbeck, this film continues our series of films based on books.

Indignation (2016)
Directed by James Schamus
Saturday, December 9, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

In 1951, Marcus (Logan Lerman), a working-class Jewish atheist student from New Jersey, attends a small Ohio college, where he struggles with sexual repression and cultural disaffection amid the ongoing Korean War. He clashes with the established social order and his overbearing parents’ hopes for his future. At the same time, he falls for an attractive, complicated classmate named Olivia (Sarah Gadon). Olivia is freethinking and sophisticated, but underneath her poised exterior she is as alienated as Marcus. Perhaps finding each other will help them both combat the tumultuous political climate and the negative stigma surrounding mental illness. Based on the 2008 novel by Philip Roth, this film continues our series of films based on books.

Girl on the Bridge (1999)
Directed by Patrice Leconte
Saturday, December 16, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium

Despondent young woman Adele (Vanessa Paradis) stands on a Paris bridge gazing into the dark water below, determined to end her life. She’s approached by professional knife-thrower Gabor (Daniel Auteuil) who attempts to dissuade her. She ultimately decides to jump, and he dives after her. In the hospital, recovering from hypothermia and with no other options on the table, Adele agrees to join his cabaret act. One night while on tour, Adele finds herself drawn to an unhappily just-married groom. She believes him to be Mr. Right. Meanwhile, Gabor winds up stranded in Turkey without a partner or passage money back to Paris. Will anyone rescue him? In French with English subtitles. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.
The King’s Speech (2010)
Directed by Tom Hooper
Saturday, December 23, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
One of England’s most unlikely monarchs, Prince Albert “Bertie” (Colin Firth) is forced to ascend the throne after his brother abdicates. Prince Albert suffers from a speech impediment that diminishes his confidence and leaves him full of dread at the thought of public appearances. Albert’s wife Elizabeth (Helena Bonham Carter) seeks the help of Australian speech therapist Lionel Logue (Geoffrey Rush), whose unconventional techniques teach the monarch to speak confidently. The real test comes when Albert, now King George VI, must make a radio broadcast declaring war on Germany. Based on the 2010 book by Peter Conradi and Mark Logue, this film continues our series of films based on books.

The Help (2011)
Directed by Tate Taylor
Saturday, December 30, 2017 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
In 1960s Mississippi, the women who run the households of prominent southern families are black women known as the help. College graduate and reluctant society girl Skeeter (Emma Stone) is determined to become a writer. Her first writing assignment is a housekeeping column, and she turns to her best friend’s housekeeper Aibileen (Viola Davis) for guidance. Her talks with Aibileen inspire Skeeter to chronicle the stories of the black women who dedicate their lives to raising the children who become their bosses. As other women step forward to tell their stories, the small Mississippi town is turned upside down. Based on Kathryn Stockett’s 2009 novel, this film continues our series of films based on books.

Wild (2014)
Directed by Jean-Marc Vallée
Saturday, January 6, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Cheryl Strayed’s (Reese Witherspoon) life comes crashing down around her after a tragedy. She turns to the solace of the great outdoors. Cheryl makes a rash decision to solo hike the Pacific Crest Trail, a 1,100 mile trail stretching from the Mojave Desert to the Canadian border. Her utter lack of hiking experience does not overpower her determination. The journey tests and fascinates her, instilling a new sense of self, healing and strength. Based on the 2012 memoir by Cheryl Strayed, this film continues our series of movies based on books.

The Shootist (1976)
Directed by Don Siegel
Saturday, January 13, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
It’s 1901 and the Old West is passing into history, and so is J. B. Books (John Wayne), an infamous ex-gunfighter who is dying of cancer. He arrives in Carson City, Nevada and rents a room at a boarding house owned by Bond Rogers (Lauren Bacall). He wants nothing more than to spend the rest of his days in peace. But peace is not to be the fate of a gunfighter like Books, because every ambitious upstart who carries a gun thinks he can outdraw him. This was Wayne’s final film, and Wayne, like his character, was dying of cancer. Terry Meehan continues his series on Revisionist Westerns of the 1970s, introducing each film with an original video, followed by audience reaction and a lively discussion.

Directed by Steven Spielberg
Saturday, February 3, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
An uneducated woman named Celie (Whoopi Goldberg) lives in the rural American south. For black women in the early twentieth century the era was marked by domestic violence, poverty and racism. Celie embodies all of these struggles and more. After being raped by her father and giving birth to two children as a result, Celie accepts a life of servitude. The struggles continue as Celie is separated from her sister Nettie (Akosua Busia) and forced into a brutal marriage to “Mister” (Danny Glover). Based on the 1982 novel by Alice Walker, this film continues our series of movies based on books.

The Outlaw Josey Wales (1976)

Directed by Clint Eastwood
Saturday, February 10, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
Josey Wales (Clint Eastwood) is a Missouri farmer who fought on the side of the South during the Civil War. As the conflict comes to an end, his family is murdered by a band of pro-Union renegades, called Jayhawkers. When he and his unit are offered amnesty if they surrender, everyone but Wales turns in their guns to the union troops. But are they really union troops? What follows is a battle much nastier than any fought during the actual war. Wales escapes and begins to search for the men who killed his family and fellow soldiers. Terry Meehan concludes his series on Revisionist Westerns of the 1970s, introducing each film with an original video, followed by audience reaction and a lively discussion.
Only Angels Have Wings (1939)
Directed by Howard Hawks
Saturday, February 17, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
A ship with passenger Bonnie Lee (Jean Arthur) aboard docks at a stop-over South American trading port where Geoff Carter (Cary Grant) runs Barranca Airlines. Her main priority becomes Carter. Getting mail deliveries to their destinations on time tops his list. The pilots need all the skills at their command for navigating through erratic weather patterns and narrow mountain passes. After one is killed while attempting a desperate landing, newly hired Bat MacPherson (Richard Barthelmess) arrives with his wife Judy (Rita Hayworth). She knows nothing of his infamous reputation. The men do, and ostracize MacPherson. Regardless, Carter makes him an offer to stay but only for the most difficult missions. He agrees, having no idea how difficult that will prove to be. Barbara Steffek-Hill presents a series of classic and contemporary films from her personal favorites.

To Kill a Mockingbird (1962)
Directed by Robert Mulligan
Saturday, February 24, 2018 at 6:00 p.m.
Main Library Auditorium
In a dusty Depression-era Southern town, a white woman (Collin Wilcox) accuses Tom Robinson (Brock Peters), a black man, of rape. Atticus Finch (Gregory Peck) serves as the defense attorney for the case and finds his distinguished reputation at stake. His children Scout and Jem turn their attention from spying on their elusive neighbor Boo Radley (Robert Duvall) to the tension-filled trial. Friendships disintegrate as the trial progresses and divides the town. The evils of racism and stereotyping are displayed in full force as the family’s safety is threatened. Based on the 1960 novel by Harper Lee, this film continues our series of movies based on books.
Financial Literacy Workshops for Burmese and Nepali Speakers

Presentation by Asian Services In Action

Wednesday, September 6, 2017 (for Burmese speakers) at 7:00 p.m.
Wednesday, September 13, 2017 (for Nepali speakers) at 7:00 p.m.

Madison Branch Meeting Room

Asian Services In Action (ASIA Inc.) will present financial literacy workshops for Burmese and Nepali refugee families to learn about budgeting, banking, credit and more. This program is being held in conjunction with the Thinking Money exhibit, which will be on display at Main Library from September 1 through October 6. Thinking Money strives to teach tweens, teens and their parents, caregivers and educators about financial literacy topics—like saving, spending and avoiding fraud—in a way that is not only understandable, but fun. Thinking Money was developed by the American Library Association Public Programs Office in collaboration with the FINRA Investor Education Foundation, whose support made this exhibition possible.

Literature Discussion: Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City

Presented by Dr. Roland Anglin

Monday, January 15, 2018 at 7:00 p.m. in the Main Library Multipurpose Room
Thursday, February 1, 2018 at 7:00 p.m. in the Madison Branch Auditorium

For more than ten million households in America, life is a daily struggle as residents spend more than half of their income on rent and utilities. Libraries across the county will discuss the book Evicted: Poverty and Profit in the American City by Matthew Desmond. Evicted follows the plights of eight Milwaukee families as they struggle financially in the midst of appalling poverty and exploitation by unscrupulous landlords. Leading the discussion of Evicted is Dr. Roland V. Anglin, the Dean of Cleveland State University’s Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs. An academic and author, Dr. Anglin is committed to community economic development. Join us in finding real solutions to our housing crisis and in celebrating the power of books to create a stronger community. This literature discussion is part of the Cleveland Community Read and is sponsored by libraries throughout the greater Cleveland area and by The City Club of Cleveland.

YOUTH PROGRAMMING

Story Times for Children

Story time is fun and provides many benefits for your child. Did you know the ability to learn language skills is greatest before the age of six? Children who are read to at an early age are more successful in school and have larger vocabularies when they enter school. Join us for engaging story times while encouraging your child’s social, emotional and cognitive development.

Registration is required unless noted. Register online at lakewoodpubliclibrary.org/youth or call (216) 226-8275, ext. 140.

Main Library Homework Room
The Library stopped handing out plastic bags years ago out of a concern for the environment and a desire to save a little money, but that doesn’t mean we want you to stop checking out more materials than you can carry. Create your own unique and stylish tote bag in this hands-on, no experience necessary craft program. All of the materials you need are provided and a master seamstress will be on hand to guide you through it.

Upcycling from Rags to Riches:
For Students in Third through Eighth Grade
Wednesday, December 27, 2017 from 2:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
Upcycling is taking an item that is no longer needed or wanted and giving it new life as something that is either useful or creative. Learn how to transform old clothing into new treasures. Turn an old t-shirt into strand necklaces, infinity scarves or a tote bag. Discover more about the upcycling movement and then use your imagination to create your own work of art. Some materials will be provided, but students are required to bring an old t-shirt to use for upcycling projects.

YOUTH PROGRAMMING

Thinking Money
Good financial habits can be developed at an early age. Lakewood Public Library is here to help make financial education fun. Thinking Money was developed by the American Library Association Public Programs Office in collaboration with the FINRA Investor Education Foundation, whose support made this exhibition possible.

Registration is required unless noted. Register online at lakewoodpubliclibrary.org/youth or call (216) 226-8275, ext. 140.

Money Scavenger Hunt: For Youth of All Ages
Tuesday, September 5, 2017 through Saturday, September 30, 2017
Main Library Children’s and Youth Services
Search the children’s area for money! Actually, you’ll be looking for pictures of money. Add the dollars and coins and write the total on your scavenger hunt sheet. Enter your completed sheet for a prize. No registration is required.

Time to Think About Money:
For Students in Third through Sixth Grade
A Cleveland Federal Reserve Money Museum Program
Tuesday, September 5, 2017 from 4:00 p.m. to 5:15 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room
This free, interactive financial literacy program uses critical thinking to help youth learn how to make their own financial decisions. Financial skills will be discussed including budgeting, saving, spending and prioritizing needs and wants. Program attendees also receive a copy of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland’s award-winning booklet, Great Minds Think: A Kid’s Guide to Money, an interactive workbook which reinforces the lessons learned in the program.

Money! Money! Money!
For Students in Third through Fifth Grade
Wednesdays, September 13, 2017 through October 4, 2017 from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Main Library Activity Room
Do you think you could be a millionaire? Sign up for this four-week board game program and compete for the top spot! Each week a different board game will be played including Monopoly Jr., Pay Day, The Game of Life and a mystery game. Points will be awarded to determine a winner.

The Allowance Game®:
For Students in Second and Third Grade
Tuesday, September 12, 2017 from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Main Library Activity Room
If you are ready to save, earn and spend a little fun money, register to play The Allowance Game®. Whether you’re starting your own business, doing chores around the house, earning interest on bank deposits or spending money at the mall, this exciting game teaches you how to use money and make change. When you do all this and save $20 (play money), you win the game!

Wild Bills:
For Students in Third through Fifth Grade
Sunday, September 17, 2017 from 3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Main Library Activity Room
Turn money into art by decorating some play bills in neon colors and collaging them together to create a really wild work of art. Who knows? Maybe a gallery will discover you, and you can turn your work of art into real money!

Dollarigami:
For Students in Sixth through Twelfth Grade
Sunday, September 17, 2017 from 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Main Library Activity Room
If you’re a fan of paper folding you will enjoy this special form of origami, designed specifically for dollar bills. Dollar origami often incorporates the images printed on the bill into the final folded design. It’s a fun way to give a gift, leave a tip or just impress a friend. We will use to-scale play bills to learn a few simple folds, and you can take the directions home with you to practice.

Shop ‘Til You Drop: For Students in Third through Fifth Grade
Friday, September 22, 2017 from 4:00 p.m. to 4:45 p.m.
Main Library Activity Room
This fun activity to teaches the value of money by budgeting, shopping and saving. Students will experience different shopping excursions based on different criteria. Play money and a ringing cash register add to the fun.
Space is the Place

Space Adventures

LEGO® Bricks Camp: For Students in Kindergarten through Fourth Grade
Tuesdays, January 16, 2018 through February 20, 2018 from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.
Main Library Multipurpose Room

Many children dream of being an astronaut and traveling to space, so Bricks 4 Kidz created an entire unit around space. Each week, students will learn about real-life space exploration and build a new model related to the NASA space program. Models include a satellite, a lunar module, a centrifuge which astronauts use to prepare for the physical sensations of launch and a space robot. During this unit, students will learn some of the science behind launching things into orbit, and discuss what it is like to be an astronaut in space. Let Bricks 4 Kidz launch your imagination to outer space and beyond!
